
Classrooms as Learning Communities – what can we see?

These four photographs come from classrooms which may have some characteristics of learning communities. But in what way are such characteristics observable?

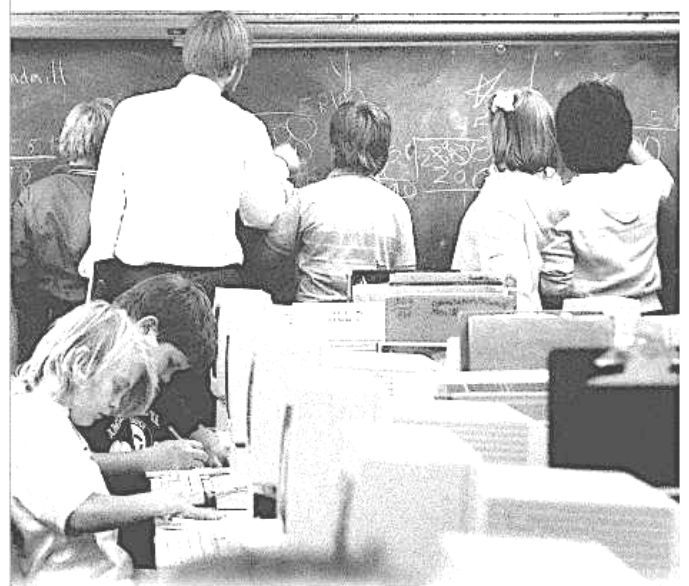

John Dewey's school in Chicago, 1894

Germany, 1915

New farm school, Montgomery, Alabama 1939

Apple "Classrooms of Tomorrow", USA 1986

What strikes you about these classrooms?

What would you say is observable that may indicate they are classrooms operating as learning communities?